BAY ST. LOUIS, MISS., SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 12, 1927

THIRTY-SIXTH YEAR NO. 8

HANCOCK SHERIFF AND SON ASSIST IN CAPTURING CARS CARRYING LIQUOR

Twelve Hundred Quarts of Liquor Captured in Hancock County Tuesday Night—Caught With the Goods and Landed in Gulfport Jail.

Twelve hundred quarts of intoxicating liquor, a large Graham Brothers truck, a Studebaker sedan, three men giving their names as Joe Hayden, Frank Rhodes and E. L. Stoner, claiming New Orleans as their home, a sawed-off repeating shotgun and two special 32-20 revolvers were scooped in by Prohibition Officers James R. Goff, of Gulfport, and E. Hogan, of Vicksburg, at an early hour Tuesday morning, on the Old Spanish Trail, between Turtle Skin cemetery and when the trail makes a turn for the New Orleans direction, the caravan traveling from the Bay St. Louis direction on to New Orleans.

On information received from Prohibition Director O. D. Jackson, of New Orleans, the officers learned that a cargo of intoxicants would probably pass thru Hancock county some time Monday night and the East Pearl River bridge was chosen as a strategic point to effect the capture. Officers passing through Bay St. Louis were met by Sheriff Bontemps' house in Main street and after informing him from his slumber gave the information there was big game in sight and to accompany the raiding party. Sheriff Bontemps promptly responded and left in his car, accompanied by his son, Wallace, while the officers went on ahead. Later, Bontemps and his son met the party at the meeting point where the capture was made.

Parking two automobiles across the road at the west end of the bridge the officers were rewarded about 12 o'clock by the appearance behind a Ford car of the big Graham Brothers truck. It was stopped and when an officer went to the driver who gave his name as Joe Hayden, the officer inquired as to the contents of the big car. Eggs, stated the driver, and his statement was borne out by the fact that the top of the load in the car was covered with egg crates.

Not being satisfied about the egg story the officer started to investigate and Joe Hayden, who had a big revolver in his hand, admitted that he had a little liquor in his car, stating that the Graham Brothers truck was used to wait a while, the officers thinking there might be more liquor to arrive later.

About 1 o'clock the officers, who had blocked the road a short distance east of the bridge, were rewarded by

FIRST GUN FIRED IN RACE FROM BEAT FIVE, SUPERVISOR

Joe O. Mauffray, Native of Hancock County, Announces Candidacy to Succeed Jos. L. Favre, Who Will Not Stand for Re-election.

Jos. O. Mauffray, well-known, and prominent local business man, has fired the first gun in the race for Supervisor from Beat No. 5, the Bay St. Louis beat, now represented by Hon. Jos. L. Favre, who will not be a candidate to succeed himself.

Mr. Mauffray is announced in this issue of The Echo, a formal announcement, as it were. However, it has been generally known he would be a candidate as soon as Mr. Favre declared he would not be a candidate for re-election.

A native of the county, he has been a resident of Bay St. Louis for over 35 years and is identified with every interest associated with the prosperity and success of the county, the city and its people.

Favoring improvement, consistently, with the funds available, Mr. Mauffray is in favor of less taxation, but not at the expense of keeping the growth and progress of Hancock county backward. He says he wishes the burden of taxation lightened; that this is the greatest and most important subject before the people of the county today, and that relief must be forthcoming. But never will he impede the march of progress, on the contrary, Mr. Mauffray says, he wishes to see both the city and county grow and keep with the fleet step of modern times.

Mr. Mauffray is the candidate of no element. No one has asked him to run; there has been no solicitation. But it has long been his ambition to serve his county, on its Board of Supervisors, and he believes the time has come when he can best and most advantageously serve the public. In the hands of no one and representing no one, he is free and, if elected, will enter upon the duties of the office unencumbered and hedged in by no promises.

For six years Mr. Mauffray served in the responsible position of bond commissioner, and served with much credit, handling the city's finances in the matter of bond monies along with his associates, without pay. His services were well worthy and his appointment to such trustworthy office reflected good judgment and gave evidence that the appointment was actuated by such motives that would best serve the city and its interests.

The Echo commends the candidacy of Mr. Mauffray to the voters of Beat 5. We feel he is entitled to this by his service to the public and by his every endeavor which makes him a leader in civic matters and a citizen who embodies every attribute to make an ideal citizen. In time he will communicate with every voter in the beat and city.

BAY CITY CAPTURES REGIONAL BASKET BALL TOURNAMENT

Mississippi Gulf Coast Tournament to Be Held at Local Gym March 4th and 5th.

EVENT BIG AND WILL DRAW MANY

Prof. S. J. Ingram, of City Public Schools, Instrumental in Getting Meet.

The Gulf Coast School Master's Association met Tuesday night in the Biloxi High school and made further plans for the regional basketball tournament.

Bay St. Louis was selected for the basketball tournament after a long discussion on the merits. Gulfport was selected for the literary and athletic events. The date was set for April 2 for the literary examination and April 16 for athletic events.

S. J. Ingram, of Bay St. Louis, speaking for St. Stanislaus college, invited the association to hold its basketball tournament there. It was accepted, the Bay to furnish trophies, local entertainment and give what percentage it can to the club. The local entertainment, as providing rooms, etc., for the basketball teams, entering the second round of play, was said to be the biggest factor offered by the Bay.

A committee from the association had been working on the basketball tournament and reported the city securing the tournament must meet requirements to buy trophies (two silver basketballs), pay local expenses of teams, and pay officials.

Mr. Ingram said that the Bay could offer a gymnasium which would accommodate the crowd and would do all possible to give a worthwhile tournament. Arrangements have been made with the Bay St. Louis ferry for a 50 per cent. reduction on cars and students en route to the tournament.

Biloxi and Gulfport also wanted the basketball tournament. It was decided that a general election of the money realized from the games after the paying expenses would go into the association treasury and at the end of the year the percentage of such it is remained would be turned over to the winning teams on a basis calculated on the number of games they played. The state tournament will be held March 11 and 12, and the regional tournament, March 4th and 5th.

Mr. L. Laird, of Biloxi, and A. E. Jackson, of Piquette, were appointed to work out details of the tournament, such as schedule time, etc. Next Tuesday will be the last day to notify the secretary of participation in the tournament and to send the $10 entrance fee. Winslow school was reinstated for the year.

Following the general meeting, the executive committee met and discussed the season on March 26. A schedule will be temporarily mapped out and announced later.

"THE CITY OF A THOUSAND CHARMS" IS BAY ST. LOUIS

Local Hotel Issues Interesting Booklet With Above As Slogan For City.

HISTORICAL DATA IS INTERESTING

Modern Improvement Given Mention—Winter and Summer Playground.

There came off the press this week an interesting booklet, issued by the Hotel Weston, of Bay St. Louis, carrying with it historical and current data. The booklet is entitled "Bay St. Louis, The City of a Thousand Charms."

A few excerpts will prove of interest. Everyone loves to read about Bay St. Louis and vicinity.

Nestling away under the shade of wide-spreading live oaks and magnolias, on the high bank of a crescent curve of the Bay and overlooking the sparkling waters of a mystic trio of bays of water—Bay St. Louis, Mississippi Sound and Gulf of Mexico—with islands to the southward, stands the quaint and picturesque city of Bay St. Louis, the metropolis and capital of Hancock County.

Bay St. Louis lends that romantic, subtle Southern charm that captivates every visitor. It is rich in historical interest of the distant past, conjuring imaginations of the early French settlement.

The first white settlement was founded by Pierre Le Moyne d'Iberville, the French explorer, who discovered the Bay in 1699, the discovery being made on the date of the birthday of Louis IX, King of France, of thisville named the body of water the Bay of St. Louis in honor of his sovereign.

History and tradition go hand in hand. There is plenty of it here, but the limit confines of this article does not permit of publication here. Maurice Thompson, the Hoosier State historian, who spent many of his winters in Bay St. Louis and who wrote "Alice of Old Vincennes" while wintering here, was the author of the "King of Honey Island," in which much of the tradition and history of this section and the stories of the pirate Lafitte abound.

Lafitte and Dominique You, his first lieutenant, landed from the shores of Bay St. Louis during the early part of the last century. At that time Bay St. Louis had become a port of entry and was quite an important port on the Coast. On a lot just north of and a part of the premises of the Hotel Weston's grounds, facing the Bay, a tavern and bar was kept by an ex-sailor named Cantoni, who is still remembered by many of the older generation. This place was a rendezvous for a rough element of seafaring people and Lafitte and his crew were frequently seen around the premises.

It is related that on a visit to Bay St. Louis Lafitte and Vasseur, one of his buccanniers, robbed an Englishman named Vernon, who was one of the leading citizens of Bay St. Louis of that day. Tradition has it that Lafitte and his crew established "cashes" for their loot around the Cantoni place. Some of this was found some years ago, pots of Spanish gold, by a young man named Baron, now a business man at New Orleans.

Today a City of Beautiful Homes. Bay St. Louis' residence portion covers a shore line overlooking the Gulf of nearly six miles of beautiful homes, shaded lawns and flowers, with its boulevard drive in front, and fine bathing beach.

It's a beautiful little city of the old French type, with a fine city and excellent schools, fine churches of all denominations.

Here the Louisville & Nashville Railroad has a 4 1/2-mile viaduct across Bay St. Louis. The Bay Waveland Yacht Club has a large membership, clubhouse and many sailing and motor boats. In addition the City has a splendid Chamber of Commerce, a Rotary club and other social and civic, as well as fraternal organizations, besides a number of churches of several denominations and schools. In addition to two of the finest denominational institutions—an academy for girls and a college for boys, just completed is a Central school, with ward schools, owned by the city and operated under a most up-to-date public school system.

Illustrated, Southland, well-known publication, recently had this to say of Bay St. Louis:

"During the summer the city is filled with tourists from the North, who come to enjoy the salubrious semi-tropical climate of the Gulf Coast, where every element of comfort and convenience is provided for in furnished homes, cottages, apartments, and boarding houses and first-class hotels."

WAVELAND SEAWALL CONTRACT LET TO FIRM FROM NASHVILLE, TENN.

Pryor & Owen Capture Big Contract, Which Was Signed Yesterday and Bond Made in Necessary Amount—Work to Start at Once.

LOCAL FIRE COMPANY GIVES BANQUET AT K. C. HALL MON. NIGHT

Fire Company No. 1 Prove Excellent Hosts at Big Rabbit-Spaghetti Feast at Knights of Columbus Hall in Main Street.

The local Fire Company No. 1 established a record beyond the firing line, when they were hosts at one of the spreads of the season on Monday night last at the K. of C. Home in Main street.

Nimrod Bag Rabbits. The banquet was the happy culmination of a successful hunt by Frank Quintini and Claud Monti who had bagged enough Bunnies in the upper Pearl River swamp to supply almost any hosts of Bon Viveurs.

As is characteristic with two gentlemen their first thoughts were for the other fellow; arrangements were quickly in order therefore for a general good time.

Ladies Assist. The hunters realized that without the assistance of the ladies the affair would never be exactly as it should, so they recruited some of the Bay's best Cuisinieres in the persons of Mrs. Claud Monti and Mrs. Thos. Quintini, to prepare the feast.

The success of these two ladies can best be attested by the unanimous vote of thanks offered by the assembly, who went on record by asserting that it was, beyond the shadow of a doubt, the finest Rabbit-Rabbit spread that they had ever attended.

Short talks on the bounteous spread and the prowess of the mighty hunters was the general order, and the "big dose of resistance" was not omitted.

Encore in Two Weeks. It was announced at the gathering that the fete would be duplicated in a fortnight, as the mighty hunters had just begun to feel themselves. That elicited a roar of approval from those present, and everybody went home happy.

The following were among those present: Mrs. Claud Monti, Mrs. Thos. Quintini, Messrs. Emile Gex, Grady Perkins, J. O. Mauffray, Gus Temple, Horace Kergosien, Hub. Canty, Lionel Davis, L. J. Moran, Aug. Sentinelle, A. E. Day, Chas. Banderet, Allan Vairin, Judge Starr, Ed. Preveau, Henry Moton, Wallace Bontemps, Capt. Soule, Capt. Drackett, Frank Quintini, Chief "Eagle-Eye" Jones, Tom Quintini, Luther Ansley, Claude Monti, Leo Seal, Chas. A. Breath, Sr., C. A. Breath, Jr., T. Ed. Kellar, Peter Monti, Arthur Seafide, Capt. Traub, R. L. Genin and H. S. Saucier.

WEEK-END FARES FROM GULF COAST TO NEW ORLEANS

Another Feature For Benefit of Coast Patrons to Be Inaugurated Today By L. & N.—Can Go to City For Week-end at Reduced Rate.

Heretofore people from the big city visiting the Mississippi Coast resorts for week-end have enjoyed a special reduced rate, but this arrangement did not work vice versa. And more than once the matter has been commented upon in terms that hinted of discrimination.

However, the L. & N. has arranged to offer the week-end rate both ways and we feel sure many will take advantage of this new rate to spend the week in the big city with relatives and friends.

While speaking of "The Lark" train to Mr. J. Kemp Ridgely, general passenger agent of the L. & N., to The Echo, that official said:

"To make this train pay additional travel will have to be created between the Coast and New Orleans that is not now moving. With this thought in mind and as an inducement on our part to encourage Gulf Coast residents and visitors to come into New Orleans for the afternoon and evening, returning to the Coast on 'The Lark' at twelve o'clock midnight, we will, effective Saturday, Feb. 12, institute low rate week-end fares from Gulf Coast stations to New Orleans, similar to the rates now in effect from New Orleans to the Coast."

For Echo readers' reference, the round-trip rates from various stations will be as follows:

Pascagoula, Miss., $4.80; Ocean Springs, Miss., $4.05; Biloxi, Miss., $3.85; Edgewater Park, Miss., $3.55; Mississippi City, Miss., $3.40; Gulfport, Miss., $3.25; Long Beach, Miss., $3.05; Pass Christian, Miss., $2.80; Bay St. Louis, Miss., $2.50; Waveland, Miss., $2.35.

Tickets will be sold from the above stations to New Orleans for both ways of Saturday and forenoon trains of Sunday, limited to return to the Coast up to and including all forenoon trains of the Monday following.

During the winter the city is filled with tourists from the North, who come to enjoy the salubrious semi-tropical climate of the Gulf Coast, where every element of comfort and convenience is provided for in furnished homes, cottages, apartments, and boarding houses and first-class hotels.

BILOXI VOTERS' RAISE SALARIES OF COMMISSIONERS

Biloxi Mayor and Commissioners to Receive More Pay—Raises Are Substantial and Voters Willing to Pay Good Men Good Pay.

It is not often the taxpayers and voters vote to pay their public officials more salary, apparently it being incumbent, so to speak, upon the officials to raise their own pay. But Biloxi has gone the average town one better. In this case, under commission form of government, officials could not augment their own stipend.

At a special election held Monday at Biloxi to determine whether or not the city commissioners should have a raise in salary from $150 to $275 per month carried by a vote of 474 for and 110 against. The total vote was 585, one ballot being spoiled. This was rather a small vote and it was said that hundreds in favor of the increase did not vote because they believed the proposition would carry easily.

This is the first raise in salaries of the commissioners since the start of the commission form of government, eight years ago, says the Herald. During this period Biloxi has shown great growth and development than during any other period in its history. For this reason the increase is hailed as a tribute to Mayor John J. Kennedy and Commissioners M. L. Michel and John Swamy.

ARTHUR BRISBANE TO WRITE FOR THE ECHO.

Beginning possibly the first part of the coming month Arthur Brisbane, the highest paid editorial writer in the world, will contribute a column weekly to The Echo and this added feature to our columns will no doubt be hailed with interest and satisfaction. The Echo now has more features than any country weekly in the State, and the endeavor to continue will prevail. The Echo was the first newspaper to publish school notes. This feature was unknown twenty-five years ago.

Our local athletic and sport page for a weekly newspaper is also new.

In the meantime, watch for Brisbane! One column per week.

The Bay St. Louis has been selected for the Coast Guard's new headquarters, and the new building, which will be a masterpiece of architecture, will be a landmark in the city.

MORE PAY FOR MARRIED MEN.

The fact that a single man and a married man are paid the same for the same work may be economic justice, but this does not help the latter clothe, feed or shelter his wife and children, much less give them the better things of life.

Thinking citizens of Bay St. Louis have realized this, observing its effect upon marriage, forcing many modern brides to remain at work until the children come. Then, when the parents need all the money they can get the mother must abandon her work, with its economic recognition, for the greater undertaking of the family life.

Under such conditions children are, in a sense, luxuries, for which parents sacrifice many selfish desires. Moreover, they are expensive, and the average young couple of this era, facing the future, have no desire for a family beyond the family purse, which would mean less for each child.

Dr. Paul Douglas, of Chicago, says "there is a growing need that either the American government or that the industries of the country guarantee to married men a higher salary than is received by bachelors." The government might be justified in doing this under the theory that more new citizens are beneficial, but the problem is not industrial.

Mussolini, it seems, tackled the problem in Italy, and a tax on bachelors resulted. In this country, and everywhere else, there are many men single because of selfishness, or through fear of accepting the responsibility of married life. Our own idea is that the proper solution would be to tax all bachelors heavily and to provide governmental aid to motherhood and bounties for children.

Of course, we never expect to see such a solution. The idea is written as it pops into the editorial mind, just for the sake of discussion. We have no desire to start a crusade or a drive, but every family is entitled to live as well as selfish, single men, of the same station of life.

"THE GARDEN OF THE RIVIERA."

Beautifully and poetically inscribed is the slogan, "The Garden of the Riviera," for the city of Bay St. Louis, adopted by a special committee jointly sitting with the executive committee of the Chamber of Commerce a few days ago.

This might not suit the idea of many and no one expects a unanimous approval. That is best explained by the fact that of some one hundred and seventy slogans submitted no two were alike.

Mississippi's beautiful section, so like the Riviera of the Mediterranean, is frequently referred to as the "Riviera of America," a title that is fitting in more than one way. The salubrious climate of the European Riviera, where wealth and fashion assemble each winter, is the same here and in ways more than one the two sections of beauty and marvel are identical.

In calling Bay St. Louis the Garden of the American Riviera the compliment is fitting, the slogan short and original and carries a meaning all its own. From our viewpoint, without disparagement to other coast sections, it is the best slogan yet selected. Bay St. Louis is a beauty spot, a garden, a veritable Eden. Abundant nature has made it so, and there remains so little yet for man to do. That explains why, perhaps, so little effort has been put forth; extraordinarily as it may appear, we have apparently imposed on nature and left it all to the element that is so rich and lavish. But even then, there is a limit, and we as a people hope to aid and accomplish greater results.

The Chamber of Commerce is to be congratulated on its enterprise and effort in adopting a slogan; the committee, in our opinion, has made an appropriate selection, and Mr. Odendahl, the author, struck a happy cord when his thoughtful and poetic mind created the inspiring slogan, "Bay St. Louis, the Garden of the Riviera."

Instantaneous success seems to have met the enterprise of the Louisville & Nashville R. R. management in its inauguration last Monday morning of its special new train, "The Lark," which will fly daily, except Sundays, from Ocean Springs to New Orleans, passing Bay St. Louis at a most convenient hour in the morning and reaching here on its return slightly over an hour after midnight.

Patronage was encouraging. After leaving Pass Christian there was not a seat to be had in the parlor car, and other coaches were comfortably filled. Several officials of the local division, with newspaper men from Biloxi, Gulfport and Bay St. Louis, were on board; also, Warren Jackson, managing-director of the Mississippi Coast club, who came as far as Bay St. Louis.

Mr. Jackson is the author of the name of the new train. Reaching New Orleans there were several officials of the line present to welcome the arrival of the train. It was instantly pronounced a success, and each morning the number of incoming passengers shows a marked increase. An official stated that the project now a reality had received more substantial encouragement than was anticipated, and the train, though only a few days old, was no longer an experiment but a success and a fixity.

The Echo wishes to add its congratulations both to the L. & N. for its enterprise and to the Coast residents who will enjoy this extension of service heretofore never dreamed of.

SEAWALL FOR WAVELAND.

Patient waiting has its own reward in more than one way, in the lesson it teaches, principle and finally in realization.

Waveland, Bay St. Louis' sister city-by-the-sea, is to have a seawall, for on Tuesday of this week the Hancock County Road Protection Commission awarded the contract that will embrace the lineal beach frontage for approximately four and one-half miles. On yesterday, both contract and bond were signed for $860,535.35, with a reputable and experienced firm from the South.

Waveland has endured long suffering for want of adequate protection from the ravages of high water and wind, not that these elements have been frequent and severe, but due to the fact the shore line is exposed and at the mercy of the slightest meteorological disturbance. A shore line of beauty, flanked with the outlines of graceful and imposing villas, and flecked here and there with vast areas of lawns of the shimmery green, and a great strand of sand forming the line of demarcation between land and sea, Waveland has claim to much; it will now come into its own. Bay St. Louis rejoices with its sister city. Waveland has reached a new turning point.

Bay St. Louis Rotary Club is making a plea to the city for the building of a public skating rink for the many children of the city, and we are of the opinion it should be built as speedily as possible. Mayor Blaine favors the project, and gives it out he has been working on this project for some time.

The largest swarm of visitors naturally came from Biloxi, and was headed by Mayor John J. Kennedy, Louis Braun, who expects three weeks' confinement in the Biloxi hospital, and others.

Interest in the hotel as a Mississippi Coast project was evident from the beginning, and at the opening of this week the Coast residents were represented by impressive delegations.

WAVELAND PROPERTY OWNER WRITES OF ORDER OF THINGS

Well-Known Summer Resident and Taxpayer Is Rightfully Enthusiastic and Offers Suggestions That Are Sound and Timely.

New Orleans, Feb. 8, 1927.
Editor Sea Coast Echo.

Dear Sir:—As a property owner in Waveland, Miss., and a resident of that place, you might naturally assume that I am very much interested in the progress of the Gulf Coast as an all-around tourists' resort.

I am hopeful that when the bids for the Waveland seawall are opened on February 8th that one of them will be accepted and that the work on this project will proceed speedily to completion. I feel that the location of Waveland and Bay St. Louis should bring good things in the future. Much of the money that has been spent in Harrison county would have been spent on this side if the work now in progress had previously been contemplated and completed. I believe when the seawall is completed and the roads are built along the edge for the seawall that a lighting system should be installed; and I hope through the medium of your columns that this suggestion will go out to the Board of Supervisors and those in charge of the work.

In the not distant future I am also hoping that the Spanish Trail will be hard-surfaced with asphalt or some other matter of similar character all the way from Bay St. Louis to Pearl River. I hope you will endeavor to influence the Louisiana Highway Commission to put guard rails on both sides of the road running through the Honey Island stretch. I feel quite certain that the assurance of drivers over this road will be greatly helped if these guard rails are put in.

I would suggest that you endeavor to get the Board of Supervisors of Bay St. Louis and the authorities at Waveland to provide what is known in other states as a "Beach Comber." I believe it would prove a great attraction for the residents and visitors if the beach could be kept clear of debris and the officials could arrange to destroy the rotten bulkheads and posts which now are a great detriment to the possibilities of beautiful beach development.

The Board of Supervisors and town officials could also establish a uniform style of pier head, and those desirous of building pier heads should be allowed to do so only if they conform with the regulation which the town authorities may adopt. Personally I think it would be a good thing if the pier heads were abolished entirely, and this could be done if the beach was made clean and free of debris.

I am doing everything in my power from this end to further the interests of Bay St. Louis and Waveland, and I hope that you will continue in your excellent effort to bring to speedy accomplishment the work now under construction and that which might be in contemplation.

Very respectfully,
C. WHARTON COLLENS.

HISTORY OF "THE MARKHAM" HOTEL IS TOLD BY PRESS

Adladdin Lamp-Like Story Is Told of the Hows and Whereofs That Made the Coast's Newest Hotel an Immediate Possibility.

Records for fast financing and speedy construction were made by the Gulfport Hotel corporation and friends and allies, in their crowning achievement, the Hotel Markham, says the Gulfport Daily Herald.

Last April, the Markham was merely an idea. In fact, it was not the "Markham," for that happy thought came later. It was later a dream of great modern commercial-tourist hotel to stand somewhere within the business district of Gulfport.

The plan began to brew in the mind of A. L. Jagoe, vice-president of the First National Bank and president of the Gulfport Chamber of Commerce, after he and James W. Billingsley, New Orleans, engineer, had successfully brought to a conclusion in Chicago the problems connected with the perfection of the Edgewater Gulf hotel's program, in which also they were vitally interested.

The start of the hotel project was not formal or particularly spectacular. "Let's build a commercial-tourist hotel in Gulfport," one man said to the other.

That was all there was to it. Meetings were held in Gulfport in April, the financial plan was drafted, the Edgewater Gulf, the Edgewater avenue were acquired, the name of "Hotel Markham" was chosen. Benjamin H. Marshall, who had designed the Edgewater Gulf, the Edgewater Beach, the Blackstone, and the Drake, and was the driving force in the project, was selected to design the Markham. Later the contract for construction of the hotel was awarded to the C. A. D. Bayley company, of New Orleans, and Atlanta. Lewis A. Reinert, former owner and operator of the Cooper-Carlton hotel, of Chicago, was chosen as managing director of the Markham, and became its heaviest individual stockholder.

Construction work began late in May. The hotel was financed largely in Mississippi. In Gulfport many men and women bought the hotel corporation's securities, and the Mississippi Bond and Mortgage company joined in a bond-taking syndicate with the Meridian Finance corporation and other institutions. The response of investors and citizens was so great that the Markham as the result of careful steering never had a "crucial moment."

Interest in the hotel as a Mississippi Coast project was evident from the beginning, and at the opening of this week the Coast residents were represented by impressive delegations.

The largest swarm of visitors naturally came from Biloxi, and was headed by Mayor John J. Kennedy, Louis Braun, who expects three weeks' confinement in the Biloxi hospital, and others.

Gossip and Women.

Most of the members of the human family are prone to become just a little swelled up over being entrusted with some important position or suddenly coming into a few more dollars than they have ordinarily been used to.

It is perhaps natural, and probably they should not be criticized under such conditions. However, every once in a while you find a fellow who has brains enough to continue just as he formerly did, no matter whether he holds an important job, or accumulates more money than the average of his fellows in this world's goods.

We have known a few folks in our time who did not undergo this change. In fact, we know a friend who has held important jobs, has had wealth, and yet he never changed one bit, so far as we could notice. We have seen this fellow lose out, so to speak, but it never changed him a particle. He continued to wear a pleasant smile, was always optimistic and hopeful. He was one of the few we have known who has remained the same under the varying circumstances.

Improvement Is Notable.

Building of cement sidewalks over the city, now partially finished along Front street from Union to Carroll avenue, is a most decided improvement and shows effectively which makes it all the more noticed. The paved streets are shown to better advantage, and so is the abutting property, and the wonder is how we managed to do without sidewalks so long. The best of the building the sidewalks is found in the fact there are lines of demarcation that never existed; there are sidewalks where formerly there were none, and the pedestrian will not only enjoy the convenience but assured safety from traffic. Finally, business houses will positively procure more trade by a walking and moving population.

their part in opening the Markham.

The officers of the Gulfport Hotel corporation, who viewed the completed product of their efforts, are James W. Billingsley, president; Louis A. Reinert, vice-president and managing director; M. P. Boudlog, secretary, and A. L. Jagoe, treasurer.

The hotel, representing an investment of $1,200,000, is eight stories in height, has 189 guest rooms, is equipped with Gulfport's first outdoor mail chute, and is topped with the city's greatest electric sign. It will have a roof garden overlooking the Gulf, and the deep sea harbor of Gulfport.

King Alfonso, of Spain, has pardoned and restored to duty the army officers who revolted against President Madero last September.

It doesn't take a very expensive car to cost you 5c more for every mile you drive than you WOULD BE PAYING if you were driving a Ford.

ROCKACHAWS DIVIDE HONORS WITH Y. M. H. A. TEAM OF NEW ORLEANS

Red Devils Win First By Snowing the Hebrews Under 47-24—Lose Second By Close Score of 26-23—
Jimmy LaNasa Stars.

The fighting Red Devils of Stanislaus got out on the right foot in the first game with the Hebrews of the Y. M. H. A. on Saturday evening, Feb. 5th, and defeated their rivals by a swamp score of 47 to 24; but the Hebrews sent for their reinforcements and they responded on Sunday in the person of lanky Jake Lubel, and ended by evening up matters with the college lads by a score of 26 to 23.

In the outset, it must be borne in mind that the Y. M. H. A.'s are no "pickup" team, far from it. They are the senior champions of 1926 from New Orleans, who went to Kansas City, Mo., to represent the South in the National tournament. They did not capture the coveted honors, but commanded very much respect from their opponents out in the Woolly West. They have been playing together for several seasons and are speed midgets on any followed by a free hit game of the series was played on Saturday night before a well-filled house, and started off slowly. As they advanced to the first quarter the visitors were in the lead by a score of 8 to 5, and they were still leading at the half by 17 to 10.

It appeared that the Rockachaws couldn't get to going, and the crowd heaved a sigh for what looked like a bum game, but signs quickly changed to yell as the teams faced each other for the second period and the Red Devils got in the stride.

Like a forest fire they roared. With lightning speed and perfect passwork the Rocks forged ahead. Schwartz started the works as he caged a neat basket. Jimmy LaNasa came in for two tallies in rapid succession; Zeke Bonura got the count on one.

Nothing could stop the lumps as they ran wildly ahead. Thirteen points were scored by them in the first five minutes of play, the Hebrews getting a lonely two points while all this was going on. In the next two minutes Jimmy LaNasa cut loose and scored three successive baskets. This speedy youngster also gave as fine an exhibition of dribbling as has ever been seen on the local court; in fact, he completely dazzled his opponents by his work. He finished with eight goals to his credit, while Big Zeke ran second with seven, followed by Schwartz, with five.

The guarding of Leo Heinen was of the class that has shown this lad as a bundle of T. N. T. throughout this season's play. He is light but makes up for it in fighting qualities, forever hanging onto the biggest that comes his way.

Herb Pallet and Klinger were the stars for the H. A.'s, the former capturing one of the longest shots seen on the court in a long time.

Coast Stars Organize For Base Ball Season

The Coast Stars, composed of players of the sixty-five inch class, have organized and are ready for a start of the 1927 base ball season. The Stars are all of Bay St. Louis, and seasoned players who had a year's experience on last year's diamond, and came out of the season with a very good record.

The Juniors are going out to uphold the traditions of the Bay in the base ball world, and there's no doubt that they will prove a bunch of scrappers worthy of the title.

The team will play a practice game on the Rockaway Park diamond on Sunday with another local team.

The Stars want games with other 65-inch players.

Address all communications to Capt. J. V. Bontemps, Jr., P. O. Box 30, Bay St. Louis, Miss.

COMMENT ON SPORTS

Mike McTigue, having battered the battering "Paul Herlenbach into helplessness, is looking for honors in the heavyweight class. It is to participate in a series of four heavyweight preliminaries to be held before March.

His comeback was nothing less than astonishing, although many foresaw it in his revived hitting power, exhibited in one or two fights prior to the Herlenbach scrap.

Rogers Hornsby finds that it is easier to buy stock of the Cardinal ball team at $48 a share than it is to sell it at $105 the price he has asked. Owner Breardon to pay. Hornsby, under Heydler's wise ruling, must sell his stock in the St. Louis club before playing for New York. Incidentally, since Hornsby bought his stock a year and a half ago he has piloted the team to a world's championship. At the price asked his stock profit would be around $70,000. This is not a bad bonus for eighteen months.

The Cardinals, by the way, have about half the club holding out for more money. The players, who are the pennant, figure that they are entitled to more pay. The club, it is known, made a good profit last season. Although no one knows how much the recent action of the directors in setting aside a sinking fund of $150,000 shows that there was some profits. If the club owners have to meet all the demands it is a cinch that there won't be much left.

Tristram Speaker will cavort in the center garden for the Washington Senators when the game opens in the spring. He had a number of offers but took Griffith's because he would play regularly in New York. It is reported, offered him the money, but Huggins wouldn't break into his out-field combination of Ruth, Combs and Meusel, even to make place for Tris. This is our idea of being satisfied with what you have.

Nearly

Saved the Public
by Freight-Rate
Reductions Since 1921

If the shippers of freight over American railroads had been obliged to pay, during the years 1922 to 1926 inclusive, the same rate for moving freight, measured by the cost per ton mile, that was paid in 1921 (under order of the Interstate Commerce Commission), the aggregate cost would have been approximately $3,000,000,000 greater.

The saving, in round numbers, has been as follows:
1922 compared with 1921 $419,000,000
1923 compared with 1921 $29,000,000
1924 compared with 1921 $64,000,000
1925 compared with 1921 $28,000,000
1926 compared with 1921 $76,000,000
Total saved in 5 years $596,000,000

The aggregate freight rates have been reduced about 15% since 1921. In addition, the railroads have handled nearly 4% more traffic, and the public has received more prompt and efficient service.

Savings to L. & N. Patrons
More than $72,000,000
During this five-year period, Louisville & Nashville Railroad freight rates, as measured by the revenue ton miles, have decreased 17.2% and the aggregate savings in freight bills to the patrons of the Road have been more than $72,000,000.

These facts and figures are published because it is believed that they will be of sufficient interest to the public to justify their being made known.

CITY SCHOOLS

CENTRAL SCHOOL

General News

There has been an increase in enrollment in every grade in school this second semester. We are glad to welcome new students, but our crowded condition makes more than anxious for the day of the day on which the new building will be turned over to us for our future convenience.

Each teacher and all the pupils of the school are putting out their best efforts in preparation for the county spelling day exercises. Examinations are first.

English Department

The Freshman English class has just completed the study of "Julius Caesar." The Freshmen are now capable of orating "Mark Antony's" speech, beginning, "Friends, Romans, Countrymen, lend me your ears!" in the most dramatic manner.

The Sophomores have completed their class review of "Silas Marner." A member of the class, who is considered the best informed in this subject, will have the honor of representing the Sophomores at county examination; the last of this month.

The Junior-Senior English class is also making preparations for the county examinations. They are studying Tennyson's "The Idylls of the King" and the Shakespearean poem, "Hamlet."

Commercial Notes

The Commercial Department is already receiving some of the equipment for the new building. The mimeograph machine came last week. The machine will be of benefit to those students preparing for office positions. It will also prove very helpful to teachers. They will now be able to provide each pupil with a copy of the questions on examination day. The machine will also be used to provide individual copies of other, more pleasant topics connected with school.

We also received new ribbons for the typewriters. These are very much appreciated.

Two more students obtained certificates of proficiency in typing. They are Mary Blau and Helen Chapman. We will have quite a number of expert typists when school closes.

The first year bookkeeping class is now studying partnership bookkeeping. They are taking such an interest in this work as to attempt a practical application of what they are studying. This is evidenced by the formation of two partnerships, one being Chapman & Blau, Virginia Chapman and Leonora Blau are partners in one and Helen Chapman and Mary Blau are in the other. From reports they have "an eye for business," and deal in both new and second-hand goods. We wish them the best of success in their new enterprise.

Jokes

Helen (looking up an account in bookkeeping)—I haven't L. Fowler in my book.

Eddie—I didn't know he was supposed to be in the book.

Senior Class Notes

The rings and pins have at last arrived. Each Senior is thrilled over the thought. The invitations have just been ordered and are expected to arrive shortly. A private meeting of the Senior class was called on last Tuesday. Several matters of importance were discussed. The Seniors made quite a few new resolutions at this meeting.

The Lincoln essays for the Senior class were turned in by several of the Seniors. The best essay is to receive a bronze medal.

Eighth Grade Notes

The Eighth grade has passed safely through mid-term examinations with only a few failures. Everyone in the eighth grade is glad that the nightmare of history is finished for the next year. We are all glad that Business Methods is taking its place. Our teacher Mrs. Sylvester, is going to take us to the bank so we may know the different methods of banking. Of course, this will be very interesting.

Two new pupils have just joined our class this semester. They are Ursula Prados and Dalton Hayes.

We are sorry to lose one of our pupils, Ernest Wilson, who has gone to Memphis to have his arm straightened. His arm was broken when a child and it has been in bad shape since. We hope for successful results.

Jokes

Mrs. Sylvester: "Nolan, what person is dog?"

Nolan: "Dog isn't a person, it's an animal."

Mr. Gillis: "Profound means deep; give us a sentence using this word, Grady."

Grady: "The well is profound."

We timid eighth graders are now upstairs with the high school altogether. It is hard to tell the difference between Freshmen, Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors apart, but we get along nicely when we remember these lines:

You can always tell a Junior by the way that he is dressed,
You can always tell a Senior by the way that he walks,
You can always tell a Freshman by his timid looks and such,
You can always tell a Sophomore, but you can not tell him much.

Seventh Grade Notes

The seventh grade has finished both "Mississippi" History, United States history, and has started the subject of "Healthy Living."

Mrs. Sylvester is entertaining the seventh grade at a Valentine party Monday.

Fifth Grade Notes

The fifth grade now has an enrollment of thirty-five pupils.

Last week the fifth grade boys constructed a moving picture machine which is to be used in the study of hygiene, history and geography. Our results are good, even though they are made of wrapping paper and pictures cut from magazines.

Third and Fourth Grade Notes

We were glad to welcome two new pupils this semester. Ethel Hays, fourth grade, and Lewis Coffman, third grade.

Since the beginning of the second semester, the third grade has had a new subject, Beginner's Geography. This subject is so much enjoyed that studying has become a pleasure.

YEP'S SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

The celebration of the birthdays of the YEP's was given in the form of a party. The children were given a chance to tell their own story, and to give a story to the class.

Notice is hereby given that all property owners who have their own sidewalks and who have not had them graded to grade standards by the city and county.

tricting. The pictures of Washington and Lincoln seem to smile down upon us when we are talking about them. The Valentine posters and flags make the school look like a war zone. The following complex, in a playlet: Fred Fayard and Doris Wilson, Harold Smith and Majorie Fayard, Joseph Fayard and Juanita Wilson, T. J. Quintini and Andrea Raymond, T. J. Luc and Louise Holtzman.

Patriotic Yea!

Of course, we receive inspiration from our great forefathers and we have given reports from research work in the library.

Another who did great good for the people who lived during his time and who gave a little one and he will give you the answer—Valentine.

Yes, indeed, we all remember the dear old St. Valentine, who spread so much cheer among the people of the world and we shall endeavor to scatter sunshine as we go along. This week we have made Valentine's at our own period and surely some hearts will be made happy with the work from these little hands. We are going to open our Valentine box Monday evening and let each short message seek the heart for which it was written.

We were all sad to see Mrs. McQueen leave, but we know Central School will profit by her loss. We wish her lots of cheer and good luck wherever she goes.

We also lost our beloved fifth grade, it seemed as if our big sisters and brothers had left us to struggle for ourselves. We know they will enjoy their work with the many others of their grade, and we are sure the hearts will welcome them with happy hearts. They also have our good wishes and we hope to follow in their footsteps as our step comes. But you left us, fifth grade, with 66 of the most interested and hard working boys and girls any where. We are going to study so hard that we shall not mourn for our lost, but try to catch you in the flight.

Our reading classes are working ever so hard to get the gold stars, which stand for a perfect lesson. Many books are beginning to gladden and show effect of our study.

The second grade is enjoying their research work in the library. They are broadening themselves in all phases.

Some of us wish to make a public acknowledgement. We, the undersigned, hereby state we greatly enjoyed the matinee Saturday, Feb. 5th: Evelyn Smith, Henry Tomashik, primary; Willie Mae Fayard, Oscar Wilson, first; Lena Fancita, Florence Luc, second; Marie Carver, Jennie Compretta, second "B"; Harvey O'Neal, Doris Osborn, third; Josephine Guaglio, Francis Faucits, fourth.

An appropriation equal to about $1,500,000 has been made for the funeral of the late Emperor of Japan, which will be held next month.

In Mexico practically all laundry work is still done by hand.

He was prominently connected in local business and identified with every move calculated for the forward march of Bay St. Louis and vicinity.

He is survived by his widow, Miss Honorine P. Moreau before her marriage; four daughters, Mrs. (Dr.) W. E. Graves, Mrs. W. E. Douglas, Mrs. Radcliffe Hawkins, Mrs. Aug. Brodman, and two sons, George and Charles. A daughter, Mrs. Blanche Lacrone, died recently. Dr. Jos. Muller, of New Orleans and Bay St. Louis, was a brother of the deceased, and Chas. G. Moreau, of Bay St. Louis, a brother-in-law.

Death of Mrs. W. S. Campbell.

Mrs. W. S. Campbell, before her marriage Miss Irene Mary Wiggins, died at the family home on the North Beach Front Monday night, at 11 o'clock, after an illness of long duration.

The remains were shipped to Natchez, Miss., by way of New Orleans, Tuesday afternoon for interment in the family plot at that place, and many friends assembled at the L. & N. railroad station to pay tribute and respect to the memory of this good woman.

Mrs. Campbell was an accomplished woman a musician of unusual merit and was organist at Christ Episcopal church, this city, and served in same capacity at New Orleans, in which city Mr. and Mrs. Campbell resided before moving to Bay St. Louis some years ago. A very talented woman, her art was versatile.

The death of Mrs. Campbell brings much regret. She is survived by her husband, well known over a wide Southern territory which he travels, with many friends to sympathize in his bereavement.
